

Product Health and Safety data sheet

mFLOR resilient flexible vinyl flooring

EnDesign Limited
Hilltop
Barton Road
Pulloxhill
Bedfordshire
MK45 5HP
ENGLAND

+31 (0) 571 750 600
contact@mflor.com

May 2020

Composition	There are no substances hazardous to health or the environment present in mFLOR products.
Hazard Identification	Non-hazardous
First Aid	Inhalation, Eye Contact, Ingestion, Skin Contact. No specific measures required.
Fire Fighting	Use water spray, dry powder, foam or carbon dioxide. Carbon monoxide and hydrogen chloride hazard present on burning, requiring use of respiratory protection.
Accidental Release	No special measures required.
Handling & Storage	No special measures. Normal safe handling methods to be applied.
Personal Protection	No special clothing or equipment required.
Physical & Chemical Properties	Supplied as tiles or strips of various thicknesses. Chemically very stable at normal temperatures.
Stability & Reactivity	No hazardous reactions when handled and stored according to normal industry practices. Burning of the product will release hazardous gases, carbon monoxide and hydrogen chloride.
Toxicological Information	No harmful effects reported.
Ecological Information	Not water soluble or biodegradable.
Disposal	Of product in accordance with local legislation, packaging is recyclable.
Transport	Classed as non-hazardous for transport purposes.
Regulatory Information	Classed as non-hazardous.

Reservation

Endesign Limited has prepared this information to the best of its knowledge at the current date, but cannot guarantee in the future that it is complete or correct.